

Brad H. Hill

Author of No One Is Normal

Host of the No One Is Normal Podcast.

www.bradhill.com

Speaking on identity, resilience, recovery, and the hidden cost of pretending to be okay.

Brad H. Hill is the author of No One Is Normal and host of the No One Is Normal Podcast. His talks are grounded, honest, and built for audiences who want something real rather than hype or surface-level motivation. Drawing from lived experience, storytelling, and conversations from the podcast, Brad helps audiences explore identity, adversity, recovery, and the pressure people feel to appear normal even when no one truly fits it.

Signature Speaking Topics:

- No One Is Normal: The Cost of Pretending and the Courage to Stop
- From Coping to Clarity: Breaking Cycles and Rebuilding Identity
- The Courage to Be Seen: Identity, Trust, and Real Leadership
- Turning Struggle Into Purpose: Life After the Mask

Ideal Audiences:

- Corporate teams and leadership groups
- Universities and academic programs
- Recovery and mental health communities
- Nonprofit organizations
- Community and civic groups
- Professional conferences

Speaking Formats:

- Keynotes
- Workshops
- Panel discussions
- Podcast conversations
- Community events

Booking Contact:

Brad H. Hill

Phone: 331-282-4546

Email: info@bradhill.com

Website: www.bradhill.com/speaker